About this course

The NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety is a widely recognised health and safety qualification that gives learners a solid understanding of how to identify, assess and control common workplace risks. It focuses on practical health and safety management systems and reflects current UK legislation and recognised best practice.

This NEBOSH health and safety course helps organisations to:

- Improve health and safety performance and reduce workplace accidents, incidents and costs
- Understand how their activities create risk for employees, contractors and others
- Strengthen legal compliance and reduce the risk of enforcement action, fines and claims
- Develop and maintain effective health and safety management systems that support tenders, audits and client requirements

The NEBOSH National General Certificate is assessed through a management of health and safety exam and a practical workplace risk assessment that tests how you apply what you've learned in a real setting.

Studying by eLearning

- Fully online, self-paced NGC course with flexible study
- Study anytime, anywhere with tutor email support when you need it
- Exam option: £799 including the GNC1 open book exam and GNC2 practical assessment (£499 without exams)
- Unlimited course access and online learner resource folder to support revision

Who is the course for?

The NEBOSH General Certificate provides a solid foundation in health and safety for managers, supervisors, and employees where health and safety forms part of their day-to-day responsibilities.

No previous health and safety knowledge or experience is required to register for the NEBOSH General Certificate.

What you will learn

The NEBOSH General Certificate is divided into two separately assessed units: NG1 and NG2.

Unit GNC1 - Management of Health and Safety

This unit focuses on the principles of effective health and safety management and includes:

- Element 1: Why we should manage workplace health and safety

- Element 2: How health and safety management systems work and what they look like
- Element 3: Managing risk - understanding people and processes
- Element 4: Health and safety monitoring and measuring performance

Unit GNC2 - Risk Assessment

This unit focuses on the practical application of risk assessment and includes:

- Element 5: Physical and psychological health
- Element 6: Musculoskeletal health
- Element 7: Chemical and biological agents
- Element 8: General workplace issues
- Element 9: Work equipment
- Element 10: Fire
- Element 11: Electricity

How the course is assessed

To achieve the NEBOSH General Certificate, candidates must successfully complete and pass two separate assessments: GNC1 and GNC2.

Unit NG1 - Open Book Examination

NG1 is assessed via an online Open Book Examination (OBE), which tests a candidate's ability to apply health and safety knowledge to realistic workplace scenarios. Further guidance on the open book examination format is available in the NEBOSH Learner Guide - OBE.

Unit GNC2 - Practical Risk Assessment

NG2 is assessed by completing a practical risk assessment based on the candidate's own workplace. This must be submitted within 10 days of the GNC1 examination date.

To achieve the full NEBOSH General Certificate qualification, candidates must complete and pass both GNC1 and GNC2 within five years of initial registration.

Further information about open book exams is available in the NEBOSH Learner Guide - OBE.
